Welcome from the UTTC President

Hau' Mitakuyapi na Mikodapi (hello my friends and relatives):

Dr. Leander R. McDonald

On behalf of the Board of Directors, Staff, Faculty, and Students, welcome to the United Tribes Technical College (UTTC) Intertribal Leadership Summit, the 50th Anniversary Legends Softball Tournament, and the 53rd Annual UTTC International Powwow! The theme for the UTTC Events Week is "Keeping Our Traditions Alive" in recognition of the importance of past, current, and future generations coming together to revitalize our language, culture, and way of life.

UTTC hosts thousands of United States, Canadian, and International visitors, who travel to Bismarck, ND to attend one or all of the events offered throughout Events Week. The week kicks off with the Tribal Leaders Summit where tribal, state, federal, and partners share their knowledge and wisdom from best practices to work happening in tribal communities. This is followed by the UTTC International Powwow, which provides opportunities to learn about Native culture, purchase Native arts and crafts, and eat great food provided by our vendors.

Athleticism is recognized at the LEGENDS Softball Tournament, the second largest in North Dakota, where past teams and champions will be highlighted in recognition of the 50th Anniversary of this growing event. Last, but certainly not least are the UTTC Golf Tournament, Thunderbird Run, and Youth Basketball Tournaments, that also continue to grow as interest builds for these events as well.

Thank you to the public for their ongoing participation, support, and presence, over the past 50 years. We appreciate you and support for these events in assisting UTTC to raise funds to support our students in their academic endeavors. All profit generated from Events Week goes directly to student scholarships in the following Spring and Fall semesters or are added to a growing endowment to enhance this scholarship activity into perpetuity.

We appreciate the ongoing support of the five governing Tribal Nations of North Dakota as well as our tribal, regional, national, and local Bismarck-Mandan sponsors for your support! A big shout out to all Events Week Committees and the UTTC workforce that have contributed their time and effort to make the UTTC Events Week a success! Last, but not least, we thank all the leadership for sharing their best practices, great drum groups, dancers, dignitaries, and athletes, for sharing their knowledge, art, songs, cultures, and athleticism, to make Events Week a success! Blessings to all for a safe weekend and safe travels as our visitors make their way home to the four directions.

Hecetuyedo (So be it).

Nina Wopida Iciciyapido (Thank you to all)!

Featured Artist: Butch Thunder Hawk

He is an enrolled citizen of the Standing Rock Lakota/Dakota Nation and grew up in Cannonball, ND and Bismarck. He earned a B.S Degree in Physical Education from Dickinson State College, Dickinson, ND, and studied Graphic Design at California College of Arts, Oakland, CA. Since joining UTTC in 1973, he has specialized in the interpretation and creation of plains tribal objects and art. As the college's Tribal Arts instructor he is a beloved figure on campus, an accomplished and well-known artist in many forms ranging from drawings and paintings to stained-glass, textiles, bone and hide work, and feathers. Butch is one of the most respected members of the UTTC faculty.

He has been a visiting curator and mentor at the Peabody Museum, Harvard University; he was awarded a Harvard Fellowship. He co-curated & assisted design of a Lewis & Clark Exhibit at the Peabody. He did the same for Wiyohpiyata (The West), a Ledger Art exhibit at the Peabody.

He has been commissioned for many projects: by Harvard University to create a Horse Memorial effigy for display and permanent collection; by the James Monroe House Museum, Ash Lawn-Highland, Charlottesville, VA, to create two major art pieces for their Native American collection; by the Thomas Jefferson House, Monticello, to create 20 traditional Native items as replicas of those President Jefferson received from Lewis & Clark; and by the ND Cowboy Hall of Fame for a major art piece for fundraising and display in the museum in Medora, ND.

He was awarded a Fine Arts Fellowship by his alma mater, Dickinson State University. His work is in private and public collections all across the country and abroad.

He has been involved in cultural research throughout his teaching career, at colleges and universities and especially with tribal elders and wisdom-keepers. His work at Harvard is especially meaningful as a model of collaboration. Other Native artists often join with him for workshops and training sessions. He created a series of PowerPoint talks, illustrated with his original art, that enlighten and inform on cultural topics, such as the importance to Native life of the Horse Culture. Recently he made a talk illustrated with his drawings at a National Park Service workshop in Jackson Hole, WY, about spiders and the trickster role of Iktomi in Lakota/Dakota culture.

Because of his good reputation, Butch has been able to earn the cooperation of elders and Native culture-keepers in sharing their insights in his classrooms and workshops. He has also delved into the use of raw and natural materials and period-correct construction techniques to explore the creation of cultural works as they were done in the past.

He has been named UTTC Teacher of the Year by the American Indian College Fund and it was his honor one holiday season to have the ornament he designed placed on the White House tree of President and Mrs. George W. Bush.

Jerry Dearly

Hello, Amba Waste Everyone;

My name is Howard (Howie) Thomson. I come from Carry The Kettle Nakoda Nation, located in South East Saskatchewan, Canada. I come from a long line of Powwow and Farming families, with strong cultural backgrounds.

I've worked alongside World Class Announcers and Head Staff throughout Canada and U.S.A.

I love to work a powwow with smiles and laughter, love to see and hear all the different styles of song and dance. I also participate in the traditional style of dance and sometimes sing.

The powwow trail is a never ending trail of friendships, love, and laughter. I travel anywhere to help out whenever I'm needed.

To all the dancers, singers and spectators; "enjoy yourself and love what you hear and see".

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the committee for inviting me to their celebration.

Pina Miya (Thank you).

Respectfully;

Howie Thomson

United Tribes Technical College 53rd Annual International Powwow

POWWOW AT-A-GLANCE

Contest Powwow Dances

The United Tribes Technical College International Powwow is held every second weekend in September. This is a contest powwow, where dancers and singers compete for prize money. Judges selected by the powwow committee will evaluate a dancer's performance based on knowledge and skill of their category; keeping time with the drum; and regalia. The UTTC International Powwow is one of the last large outdoor events on the northern Great Plains powwow circuit. For that reason, this annual event is known as the Home of the Champions. Our 2018 theme is: Leadership Educating the Next Generation.

What is a powwow?

The word powwow, is a noun an Eastern Algonquian language used to describe a gathering of Native people; however, in Indian Country, the event is defined as a cultural celebration that features group singing and dancing by men, women and children. Cultural traditions such as values and spirituality are passed from generation to generation during these social gatherings. Skilled Native American artisans travel across the country to attend various powwows to display and sell their hand-made goods. The powwow is a welcome opportunity to visit with friends and relatives, trade or sell Native arts and crafts, and enjoy great traditional and contemporary foods.

Arena Director

The Arena director is responsible for ensuring that everything in the powwow arena runs smoothly, including lining up Grand Entry, setting up dance categories, and keeping the dancers and singers informed throughout the weekend.

Grand Entry

The first to enter the Arena are veterans carrying Eagle Feather Staffs, national, state and tribal and veterans' flags. Visiting dignitaries and royalty are next. Men's traditional dancers enter first behind the dignitaries followed by the remaining dancer categories, moving clockwise around the arena. After all the dancers have entered, then comes a prayer followed by a flag and victory song (you should remain standing until the flags are posted).

Honor Song

An honor song is sung for an individual for a variety of reasons such as graduating from school, serving in the military, or receiving an Indian name. Everyone is invited to come and pay their respects by gently shaking the hands of the family and then joining the line behind them to finish the dance around the arena.

Veterans

Veterans are greatly esteemed in Native cultures as they are recognized as the protectors of the people. They have earned the right to bring in the staffs and flags during Grand Entry for their service to the country. American Indians have the highest enlistment and veterans rates of any other race in the Nation.

POWWOW AT-A-GLANCE

Men's Traditional

Men's traditional is one of the oldest styles of dance known across the Great Plains. This dance is focused on the individual, or dancer, telling a story. The story re-enactment could be one of a great hunting party, or perhaps, a war party, where the individual tracked their food or their enemy. Regalia designs are used to honor family, nation, or individuals and are usually handcrafted by the individual dancer or their family members. Breast plates are made of bone or shell to protect against arrows; neck choker to protect against knives; a tomahawk or shield with symbols associated with the tribe. Some wear a bustle made of eagle feathers on their lower backs and carry eagle feather fans; the eagle being a sacred bird within the culture and a connection to the Creator.

Women's Traditional

The women's traditional dance is rhythmic and graceful, with repetitive movements, and is also known as one of the oldest form of dances for this region. Historically, when the hunters or warriors would return, a runner would be sent ahead to inform the camp of their return. Songs would be sung to welcome them home. The women would dance in line, side by side, along the route to welcome their relatives back to camp. The women move their feet up and down close to the ground, in time with the drum. Many carry a folded shawl draped over one arm and a feather fan. They may also carry a knife case and an awl on their belt. Dresses are in beautiful colors and beading, often made by the dancer, or a close and loving relative.

Men's Grass Dance

There are differing interpretations of the origin of the grass dance. One is that the dance is to flatten the grass on a new camp or meeting site to bless the area. The grass dancers shake and sway like the grass in the wind while their feet perform intricate dance moves. Grass dance regalia consists of colorful ribbons and fabric that mimics the look of grass. The head dress is known as a roach that is made out of porcupine and horse hair. Spinners are attached to the roach and usually comprised of two feathers or plumes. The dancers do not wear feather bustles like the traditional and fancy dancers.

Men's Fancy

Men's fancy is a contemporary style of dance for energetic young men or older men who are in great shape. A fancy dancer needs stamina and agility for the jumping, twirling and other aerobic rapid movements. The colors are bright and the regalia elaborate. Dancers often have two feather bustles, ribbons and horse hair, along with bright head and arm bands, and sometimes mirrors. A head dress of two eagle feathers is worn. Dancers bob their heads to keep the feathers constantly moving throughout the song. Fancy dancers often carry a decorated coup stick, as ancestors did in times of battle.

POWWOW AT-A-GLANCE

Women's Fancy Dance

Women's fancy dance is a contemporary style dance where women usually wear colorful, elaborate regalia with calf-length skirt and a beaded or sequined or decorated shirt. A long fringed shawl is worn over the shoulders and held out at the elbows. Regalia may also include beaded belts, hairpieces, braid wraps, leggings and moccasins. The fast movements of the fancy shawl dancer includes fine footwork and fast spins, meant to mimic a joyful butterfly.

Jingle Dress

The jingle dress dance is characterized by the jingle dress and light footwork danced close to ground. Dance movements include a straight up posture, up and down motion and hopping or rocking with the feet moving in a shuffle. Arms are bent at the elbows, with hands on hips, or carrying a scarf, fan or purse.

The origin of the dance has several versions, but the common story is about a spiritual leader with a vision of how to heal his sick granddaughter. In the vision, he saw the spirit in a dress. The spirit told him that if he made this dress for his granddaughter and if she would dance in it that she would become well, which she did. Jingle dresses are made of fabric in solid bright colors. Each dress adorned with jingles on the sleeves, the top, and rows of jingles on the bottom. The jingles were originally made from chewing tobacco can lids, rolled into cones. Each jingle represents a prayer.

Men's Chicken Dance

Several tribal nations have origin stories of the Chicken Dance traditional style of dancing, but all of them include mention of the prairie chicken's springtime mating dance.

The traditional regalia worn by the chicken dancers have not changed much; with regalia that includes a head roach, breech cloth, round bells, and a small feather bustle. The dance is done in mimicking the mating dance of the Prairie Chicken that we see in the prairies.

Intertribals

Everyone is invited to join the dancers in the arena when an intertribal dance is announced. You need not be in regalia but are asked to be respectful at all times. Walk in time with the beat and watch others around you to see what they do. Always be mindful of others.

Regalia

There are many dance types with categories divided by age and gender. The regalia worn by each dancer is determined by the category in which they compete. Please do not touch any part of the dancer's regalia without permission.

Ceremonies and Traditions

Fallen Warrior Ceremony: If an eagle feather from someone's regalia inadvertently falls to the ground, an Eagle Ceremony is conducted by veterans to retrieve what they consider the Fallen Warrior. Tribal People have the highest respect for the eagle as they believe the eagle flies higher than any other being and carries prayers to the Creator. Possession of an eagle feather is an honor. Please, no photography during this ceremony.

Giveaways

A giveaway demonstrates how generosity is a virtue in tribal culture. The giveaway occurs when an individual or group is to be thanked or achieved a major honor or accomplishment. A master of ceremonies assists the family during the giveaway. Often simple, everyday gifts are given. For example, blankets and special gifts like star quilts may be given to individuals who have helped the family. Visitors often receive gifts and refusal is considered impolite. A giveaway is generally followed by a 'thank you' song and dance, when gift recipients participate in a round dance.

Powwow Etiquette

Please show respect during the Grand Entry and prayers by removing your cap or hat and standing. You may sit if you are elderly or have a medical condition that prevents you from standing. Please refrain from talking during prayer. Listen to the master of ceremonies.

- Clothing worn by participants is known as regalia and not to be called a costume.
- Do not touch the dancers or their regalia.
- Please ask dancers before you take their photo. Be polite by asking permission as some dancers may have spiritual reasons for avoiding photos.
- Photographers are asked not to enter the dance arena to take photos, nor are they allowed to photograph during prayers and ceremonies.
- When a blanket dance is announced, be prepared to donate a few dollars when the blanket passes. The money will be donated to the person or drum group being honored.
- Leave the lawn chairs around the area alone; they're for the dancers. You may bring your own chair; please make room for others.
- Don't be afraid to ask people around you to explain things that you may not understand. People are friendly and will be eager to share their knowledge.
- Shaking hands is an important acknowledgement of another person. This is done gently not forcefully. Native children learn this custom at a young age.
- Because this is a sacred gathering, drugs and alcohol are not tolerated on powwow grounds under any circumstances.

HISTORY OF UNITED TRIBES TECHNICAL COLLEGE

Enter United Tribes Technical College and you're on Indian land. The 230-acre campus along Bismarck's University Drive is a place of historic significance. It is owned and governed by the tribal nations of North Dakota to serve education. Visitors are encouraged to see and experience this location from a First People's point of view.

American Indian students are joined by students of all racial and ethnic backgrounds to learn in this culturally diverse setting.

Tribal Homeland

UTTC is the site of the former military post Fort Lincoln. But long before the first brick buildings took shape in 1902, this was open prairie. Wooded ravines nearby and fertile bottomlands were the life-sustaining homelands of the Mandan, Hidatsa and Arikara tribes.

In 1863 – after the Minnesota-Dakota Conflict – Lakota and Dakota People avoided an almost certain massacre nearby, outmaneuvering a vengeful militia from Minnesota.

Hunting grounds, battle sites, villages and sacred locations abound near the confluence of Apple Creek and the Missouri River.

Military Post

Unmistakable on the campus today are Fort Lincoln's parade grounds, brick buildings and other facilities that served military purposes on and off through the first half of the 20th Century. Periodically troops were garrisoned, assembled, trained and mobilized here. One-hundred-years ago, in 1917, the post was a busy assembly center for North Dakota National Guard troops departing for Europe during World War One.

Over the years the facilities also served government and civic purposes as Bismarck locals lobbied to maintain a presence that would continue the flow of federal funding into their community.

Internment Camp

During World War Two, Fort Lincoln was tapped for another purpose. In 1941 a portion was cordoned off with 10-foot-high cyclone fences topped with barbed wire and fortified by guard towers. The post became an internment camp operated by the U.S. Justice Dept. Detained and confined were men primarily of German and Japanese ancestry – some of whom were U.S. citizens. By 1946, upwards of 4,000 internees passed through what has become known as Snow Country Prison, connecting this site with the national disgrace of unjust and unconstitutional treatment of groups and individuals targeted by race and ethnicity.

Bismarck's Fort Lincoln was fenced and guarded compound during the internment camp era, 1941-1946.

Post-War Era

After the war Fort Lincoln continued in government service. It became the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers headquarters for planning the Garrison Dam, a public works project that flooded tribal land, devastating citizens of the Mandan/Hidatsa/Arikara Nation.

In 1964 the fort was declared surplus property and was later remodeled and used as a Job Corps training center, and later by the Peace Corps.

UNITED TRIBES
TECHNICAL COLLEGE

College Bound

The start of United Tribes Technical College is rooted in the vision and activism of tribal leaders in the 1960s. Faced with threats to their tribal sovereignty and the need for training and job development, the tribes of North Dakota incorporated in 1968 and obtained the fort for education and training. Classes began in September 1969. Thus, it became the second tribal college in the nation and one of the founding institutions of the nationwide American Indian Higher Education Consortium.

Because several tribes were involved, UTTC holds the distinction of being the first intertribally-controlled and operated postsecondary vocational school in the country. The governing tribes are located wholly or in part in North Dakota: Mandan/ Hidatsa/Arikara Nation, Spirit Lake Tribe, Sisseton-Wahpeton Oyaté, Standing Rock Sioux Tribe and Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa Indians.

Dedication program for United Tribes Educational Training Center on September 6, 1969. Attended by dignitaries, tribal leaders and Bismarck citizens.

Setting the Pace

United Tribes was formed as a supportive campus-community, where students could maintain their culture and build on their experience as tribal people, as they acquired an education leading to employment and life-long opportunities. A hallmark has been the ability to identify and respond to the changing needs for jobs training and education. In 1982 the college attained full membership accreditation with the Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, maintaining its good standing ever since. The college's first associate degrees were offered in 1987. Accreditation followed for all of the college's associate level programs in 1993. Tribal College Land Grant status was conferred in 1994. UTTC was the first tribal college in the nation to receive accreditation to offer associate degrees online.

Now, bachelor's degree programs round out the offerings that make UTTC one of the leading tribal colleges in the nation.

Transformation

Today, the UTTC campus is a learning environment with modern educational buildings and equipment. The historic setting is transformed, serving students from tribes all across the country and non-Native students.

Thousands have been successful, demonstrating that educating students at United Tribes Technical College is the highest and best use of a one-time military fort in the tribal homeland.

Students from all racial and ethnic backgrounds attend UTTC.

UTTC's Itancan (Leadership) Hall is a modern dorm facility amid historic buildings.

 14. Any verified alcohol or drug use of singers whether competition or non-competition will result in disqualification from the singing contest or ineligibility for money.

POWWOW PHOTOGRAPHY and RECORDING GUIDELINES

The United Tribes Technical College (UTTC) International Powwow is a celebratory gathering of tribal people. Seen and heard are many examples and performances of creative genius and cultural expression, ranging from the designs in beading and quillwork to the artistic movements in dance, and the inspiration in song and at the drum. These are the intellectual and creative property of individuals and groups, and the outward expression of customs and knowledge from within the culture. These have often been appropriated without permission or acknowledgment through the use of photography and recordings. In the spirit of respect and understanding, the UTTC Powwow Committee asks you to observe certain protocols when it comes to photography and audio and video recording.

By the POWWOW AUDIENCE

It is permissible for audience members to take a few photos or make a short video of dancers in the arena for your private or personal use. Do not go into the dance arena to make photos or video and do not block the view of other audience members. Outside the arena, please ask before photographing or recording individuals. It is appropriate to offer to provide prints or photo files or video files. Everyone has e-mail. Please respect these guidelines and be mindful of what you post online.

By COMMERCIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS or VIDEO PRODUCERS

Recording by audio, video or photographic means for reproduction and sale or other commercial or documentary purposes without expressed, written permission from UTTC and those photographed or recorded, is prohibited. Photographers and producers are asked to obtain a Media Pass before entering the powwow to take any photos or video. You are asked to administer your own release forms for permission from individual participants or groups.

By PRESS and MEDIA for SPOT NEWS

Working press/media may obtain access to the campus to engage informants, take photographs, and make audio/video recordings for spot news reporting. Photo images and audio/video recordings acquired for news coverage may not be sold, conveyed or used for other purposes. You are asked to openly display your media pass.

NO PHOTOGRAPHY or RECORDING

There are times when it is not appropriate to take photographs or make recordings, such as during prayers or ceremonies, or when the announcers say photographs and recordings should not be made.

UNITED TRIBES PHOTOS/RECORDING

UTTC reserves the right to make audio/video recordings, take photos, stream audio/video or otherwise publicize, disseminate or document the powwow, and may assign those rights to photographers and producers. UTTC is grateful when photos, videos and recordings are shared with the college.

FOLLOW THE GUIDELINES

Individuals and organizations that fail to observe the guidelines set forth here will be subject to removal from the college campus. Thank you for your cooperation.

CONTACT: Luann Poitra, Communication Specialist EXT 1387, lpoitra@uttc.edu.

Powwow Safety & Security

The UTTC Safety & Security Department is dedicated to keeping you safe on the campus, including, and especially, during the international powwow.

Please know that UTTC is private property. The college reserves the right to refuse entrance to anyone. Security personnel may search individuals and/or the personal property of persons suspected to be under the influence of drugs or alcohol.

UTTC is an alcohol and drug-free campus.

Individuals found in possession of alcohol or drugs, or firearms or other weapons, will be processed under North Dakota laws and referred to the appropriate jurisdictional authority: Burleigh County Sheriff's Department.

Pets are not permitted on campus. Individuals with pets will not be allowed to enter.

Please think Safety First!

We respectfully ask for your cooperation. Thank you for your assistance and for attending the powwow celebration. We hope you have an enjoyable time.

– Joely Heavy Runner, UTTC Safety & Security Director
